

Information Day For Students Of STEM Disciplines

Wednesday, June 20, 2018

le 25 mai 2018

Future-oriented video security technology “Made in Germany” has been developed and manufactured in Rhineland-Palatinate, Germany, since 1999: MOBOTIX AG with 350 employees at the headquarters in Langmeil with branch offices in New York and Sydney count as driving innovator of network camera systems ever since their foundation in 1999. In cooperation with our strategic partner Konica Minolta we are creating innovative solutions for applications in areas such as smart cities, healthcare, process optimisation and other sectors.

Every day, more than 60 software and hardware developers work on the extension of our product portfolio and develop new and ground-breaking solutions in the field of digital, network-based video security technology. We offer magnificent chances and perspectives to actively create your own future successfully in our highly motivated young team.

The information day for students on 20 June 2018 at our headquarters, offers the unique opportunity to get to know MOBOTIX AG and to talk with the experts from the development departments.
