MOBOTIX

Christian Cabirol succeeds Hartmut Sprave as CTO

06 febbraio 2023

Chief Technology Officer (CTO) Hartmut Sprave will leave MOBOTIX AG at his request after five years of service, with his contract expiring on May 31, 2023, to take on new professional challenges.

He will be succeeded by Christian Cabirol, who will be responsible for all R&D focus areas and technology partnerships as key elements of the solution-oriented strategy based on "Made in Germany" quality and the highest cyber security.

Christian Cabirol has been working for MOBOTIX since 2016. He currently leads the development of camera software as a fundamental part of the R&D strategy. Cabirol will take over the Executive Board position from Hartmut Sprave by June 1, 2023, at the latest.

"I warmly welcome Christian Cabirol as the new CTO at MOBOTIX. He has an excellent understanding of the strengths that MOBOTIX possesses in both hardware and software development and how he can further expand them. Christan Cabirol's strategic vision for developing value-added solutions will help expand sales worldwide," said Toshiya Eguchi, Chairman of the Supervisory Board.

"I would like to thank Hartmut for his contribution and cooperation over the past five years. At the same time, I congratulate Christian Cabirol, who has already proven his strong competencies since joining MOBOTIX. With his focus on leadership and innovation, Christian will further develop MOBOTIX AG's solution-focused strategy. We look forward to presenting Christian's visions and plans to our customers and partners soon," emphasizes MOBOTIX CEO Thomas Lausten.
